Medela violates the International Code with commercial promotion of bottles and teats. While pumps are not mentioned in the scope of the Code, the Code was passed as a minimum standard for the protection of breastfeeding. Medela’s marketing of pumps, bottles and teats, its donations in emergencies and to vulnerable mothers, violate the International Code and Resolutions and the Operational Guidance for Infant and Young Child Feeding in Emergencies. Its blatant use of foundation funds to support research studies that separate mothers and children, are linked to formula industries and provide a means to avoid adequate maternity benefits, clearly undermine breastfeeding.
